While it is famous for its vehicles, Honda is also the world's largest manufacturer of internal combustion engines, producing more than 14 million units per year. The company originally started out producing motorcycles, but by 1963 had expanded to include car manufacturing. Since then, the company has produced many popular models, including the Accord, Civic, CRV, and Prelude. It also took part in the IndyCar World Series for the first time in 1994, and in 2004 won 14 out of 16 IndyCar races. At Haynes, we have an extensive range of Honda repair manuals available for professional mechanics and DIY car enthusiasts alike.

On some Hondas, the owners manual suggests pumping the brake pedal 25 times before looking at the fluid level, be sure to check your owners manual to see if this applies to your 1995 Civic. In addition to checking the brake fluid level, you want to look at the color of the brake fluid in your Civic if it is dark in color or it has been more than 2 years since you have changed it, you should consider having it changed this will help make the internal components which are expensive last much longer. If you need to add fluid to your Civic, it is important to check your owners manual for the correct type to add it likely be either DOT 3, DOT 4 or DOT 5, also known as silicone brake fluid. Be sure to discard bottles of brake fluid that are over a year old brake fluid sucks the moisture out of the air and the water vapor in the fluid can quickly rust out the brake lines in your Civic.
